TEN CENTS PER WEEK

COL. THEODORE AND SUNNY JIM DO NOT CONFER

Both Are in Utica, N. Y.,
But Neither Seeks a Meeting.

Preparations Being Made for a Fight.

ROOSEVELT IS FOR DAVIDSON

Utica, N. Y., Aug. 24.—Utica today entertained both Col. Roosevelt and Vice President Sherman, principals in the state Republican break. Each avoided a meeting. Sherman again refused to discuss Taft's repudiation of the state committee deal in naming Sherman temporary chairman over Roosevelt. Roosevelt's unqualified endorsement of Senator Davenport, champion of direct primaries, is regarded as the first blow at the regular organization in a final fight on Sherman.

Battle in New York.

New York, Aug. 24.—The battle for the control of the New York state convention began in earnest today. Tim Woodruff and his aides arranged for a conference at which to perfect their plans. Crismon and the Roosevelt lieutenants are planning to go after the upstate delegates, many of whom have been elected and are anti-progressive.

MAKES BIG CLAIM FOR TOBACCO ASSOCIATION

Between 60 and 70 per cent of the Black Patch has been pledged to the Planters' Protective association, according to Mr. W. B. Blakemore, assistant general manager of the association, who returned to his home in Martin, Tenn., last night after being here on business. Mr. M. M. Tucker, who is in charge of the local Western District warehouse, is distributing programs for the fall fair next month among the farmers and tobacco growers, who are interested in the prizes for tobacco to be given.

American Girls Work Revolution.

New York, Aug. 24.—"American girls do not go abroad to have a good time by drinking wine, smoking cigarettes and following other European customs." Thus Lady Francis Cook (Tennessee Claflin), herself an American girl, who arrived yesterday from Europe, expressed herself. "American girls have revolutionized Europe. Continental streets which were regarded as unsafe for women after dark are now as safe as our own avenues. It is the American girl who has worked this change. I don't believe the cigarette habit among women is cause for alarm in this country."

Arrested in Switzerland.

St. Moritz, Switzerland, Aug. 24.—The thieves who on August 18 robbed Mrs. Daniel Bacon, of New York, of a large amount of jewelry, were arrested and have confessed to the robbery. They are a chambermaid at the hotel at which Mrs. Bacon, with her sister, Lady Gilbert Parker, and Sir Gilbert Parker, were staying, and the maid's husband. The value of the stolen gems was in first dispatches placed at $45,000, but later reports show that the value had been greatly exaggerated.

Eagles Dry? Oh, Mercy!

St. Louis, Aug. 24.—Frank E. Hering, president of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, in his opening speech at the first business session of the convention there, declared that the organization is opposed to the buffets in any of its clubs being used as a means of evading the closing laws in any community. More than 15,000 Eagles, including delegates from this city, are in attendance.

CLARKSVILLE-PADUCAH GAME AT BOWLING GREEN

The final game of the series between Paducah and Clarksville tomorrow that is scheduled at Clarksville, will be played in Bowling Green. The change is made in order to get a better attendance, and both teams asked for the shift. Mr. W. E. Cochran wired President Gossnell at Vincennes, Ind., and today received a telegram granting permission for the Bowling Green date. A big bunch of fans is expected to attend tomorrow's game. Paducah will return here with Clarksville on Friday for three games. Payne probably will do the twirling this afternoon for the Indians.

Military Forces of Three States Called Out to Fight Forest Fires, Which Seem to Be Abated Today

Panhandle Section Apparently Was Doomed Until Rain Came Speedily—Terrible Suffering.

Spokane, Wash., Aug. 24.—The crisis in the fire situation in western Montana and Idaho is believed to be past. Advises state that rain is falling, the fires are under control and the conditions are much improved. Alarm is still felt for the safety of the 800 foresters not heard from for several days, but the general feeling is that they have escaped alive. Officials estimate the total loss in Idaho and Montana at $20,000,000.

Spokane, Aug. 24.—The end of the northwestern forest fires is not in sight, despite the improved conditions. Six hundred fire fighters are reported missing from the Thompson Falls district, but the officials declare a conservative estimate of the death to be 75 and the loss ten million dollars. The entire state militia of Idaho, Oregon and Montana have been called out. The Thompson Falls district is now in the greatest danger, lying directly in the path of the fire.

Spokane, Aug. 24.—Nearly the whole of the Panhandle in Idaho, timbered mountain country, is on fire and it is possible that 400 persons may have perished. United States Forest Supervisor W. R. Weigle has not heard from 200 of his men who were in the burning woods and fears they have perished. A light rain began to fall in Wallace and other Coeur D'Alene mining towns which have been scorched or threatened by forest fires and the weary firefighters took new hope.

Nothing, however, but a long, heavy downpour will quench the flames that are eating up the big trees of northern Idaho, northwestern Montana and northeastern Washington.

Idaho militia and United States troops are on their way to battle with the dread invader, but soldiers can accomplish little more than protect the threatened towns. Forest supervisors of Idaho and Montana are unable to get into communication with 900 of their rangers, but it may be that many of them are unharmed.

The most sensational rumors of the loss of life continue, but it is impossible to verify them and it seems that aside from the losses among national rangers, the number of dead in the three states will not exceed 100.

The list of known dead compiled in Spokane contained only thirty-four names.

The fires in the great Coeur D'Alene national forest are beyond control and timber worth millions of dollars is burning. Fires on the Coeur D'Alene Indian reservation have been checked as have those in the Palouse national forest. Along the St. Joe river, which runs through what is described on maps as "the largest body of standing white pine timber in the United States," there is continuous fire from Plummer to a point in Montana.

Next to the United States, the big corporations are the chief sufferers. It is difficult to give figures on timber losses, which may reach $10,000,000.

Big Crowd Attends I. C. Shop Picnic

With 11 coaches and a baggage car packed and jammed with merry picnickers the first train departed for the grounds at Kevil, Ky., at 8 o'clock this morning, half an hour behind the schedule, carrying nearly 1,000 Illinois Central railroad employees and their friends. The second train leaving Eleventh and Broadway at 10:30 o'clock was likewise crowded to its capacity. It is estimated that over 3,000 people are on hand for the day.

Two additional coaches were added to the first train this morning. The crowd was composed of a majority of women and children. Futrell's (colored) band will furnish the music while dancing and different forms of entertainments are being enjoyed. Foot races took place this afternoon. The picnickers

"Melon" Helps John D.

New York, Aug. 24.—Poor John D. Rockefeller is undergoing many shocks to his nervous system these days. In the first place John D. has just received a dividend of $6 per share for his holdings in the Standard Oil company. According to him he will get something like $750 an hour 24 hours a day for the next three months. His share of the Standard Oil "melon" will help pay for the increased assessment placed on his estate at Pocantico Hills. Heretofore Mr. Rockefeller has had to pay taxes on only $250,000 valuation, but a business-like assessor has raised that to $300,000. So far the Standard Oil magnate has offered no protest.

LIGHTNING FELS CHILD STANDING NEAR TELEPHONE

Little Charles Sayres Struck
Unconscious By a Bolt
From Sky.

Slightly Deaf and Paralyzed
as Result.

ULTIMATELY WILL RECOVER

A child's curiosity nearly resulted in the death of Charles Sayres, the 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sayres, living in this county near Little Cypress, yesterday afternoon during the thunderstorm when lightning struck a telephone he was playing with. He was knocked down and lay unconscious for half an hour before he was revived by Dr. E. R. Goodloe, of Little Cypress, who was immediately called.

The bolt left a red streak on the little boy's left side, extending from his ear to his foot.

Mrs. Sayres had just left the house where Charles and his sister, Florence, aged 7, were playing. The jingling of the telephone bell accompanying the flashes of lightning attracted the little fellow's attention and curiosity impelled him to investigate. He took down the receiver and held it to his left ear. A bolt of lightning that struck the telephone wire felled the boy. His sister saw him and ran after her mother, who rushed back to the house and attempted to revive him. Failing, she sent for Dr. Goodloe, who made a hurry call to the home to find the boy in a serious condition. Applying restoratives he finally succeeded in causing the little fellow to open his eyes, although unable to speak.

Today his left leg is partly paralyzed. Dr. Goodloe says he is out of danger and will suffer no after effects when he recovers completely from the shock. His left ear is deaf although this may not be permanent.

Irene Moore, the 8-year-old daughter of Mr. Albert Moore, 721 South Sixteenth street, was knocked down by a frightened horse at Kevil this morning at 8:30 o'clock and narrowly escaped being seriously injured. She accompanied her father on the I. C. picnic and was playing on the grounds when a horse driven by a farmer ran against a tree, and breaking loose from the wagon, ran into the girl. She was brought home this afternoon and an examination showed that two ribs were broken.

POPULAR FIREMAN QUILTS SERVICE OF THE CITY.

After four years' efficient service in the Paducah fire department, Mr. Russell Hughes, a relief driver at No. 3 fire station, Tenth and Clay streets, handed in his resignation this morning to take effect September 1. Mr. Hughes gives up his position to become a fireman for the Illinois Central railroad and the department loses a good man. He is popular in the city and the ladies at No. 3 station regret to give him up. His successor will be named by the police and fire commissioners.

Parker, it is understood, withdraws in order to make certain the renomination of Representative Guy L. Bush, of Downer's Grove, while Crawford's withdrawal is said to be in the interest of Frank L. Davis to Cairo.

HEARSE RAN AWAY.

Dogbin Causes Wreck—Body Was Thrown in River.

New York, Aug. 24.—A sleepy old dogbin, which had drawn a West Side undertaker's wagon for years in most approved funeral pace, imagined a vain strange accident. After a wild flight of several blocks the horse and wagon plunged into the Hudson river. The doors of the wagon flew open and a casket containing a body floated down stream. The driver managed to save himself. The night watchman of a pier swam out in the tide and towed the casket ashore. The horse and wagon finally were brought ashore.

THE UNPLEASANT GORILLA.

An Animal of Vicious Propensities and Enormous Strength.

Many believe the gorilla to be human; others hold that, though itself a beast, it is often informed with the transfigured spirit of the human dead. It is said to lie in wait crouched on the lower branches of trees overhanging a path, and when a human being passes to drop one of its long hind limbs and, clutching the victim by the throat so suddenly and in so terrible a grip that hardly a sob is heard, to drag it—man or woman—up to its lurking place. It is credited with capturing and stealing women and carrying them off to keep them in the forests and, armed with clubs, is said to attack and beat off elephants. The formidableness of the great apes as compared with other beasts, however, is not an easy matter to pass upon. In Africa it is noteworthy that the lion and the gorilla do not occur together, and it has been conjectured both that the lion has exterminated the gorilla within its territory and that the gorilla has driven out the lion.

In Borneo the most serious neighbors of the orang are the python and the crocodile, and the natives say that the ape overcomes them both, the python by seizing and biting it, and the crocodile by leaping on its back, clutching it by the upper jaw and by sheer main strength tearing it open. The name "orang" is in itself a title of honor, meaning roughly "wise one," the Malays giving it alike to their chiefs, to elephants and to the "wild men." Perhaps, however, no native myth or story eclipses in wonder the statement of Emin Pasha, made seriously, that in the M'bhong forest the chimpanzees used to come to rob the banana plantations in troops, bearing torques to light them on their way. "Had I not witnessed this extraordinary spectacle personally," he is reported as saying, "I should not have believed that any of the simians understood the art of making fire." Unhappily we personally did not witness it.—London Times.

PANAMA TRIP

PRESIDENT MAY BE ABSENT ONLY TWO WEEKS.

Commissioner Submits Figures on Attorney Fees—To Be Used in Message.

Beverly, Mass., Aug. 24.—It is now practically certain that President Taft will make his proposed trip to the Isthmus of Panama in November. The trip will be curtailed considerably, however, and the time of the president's absence may be cut down from twenty days to two weeks.

R. G. Valentine, commissioner of Indian affairs, submitted to the president a mass of information collected through the hearing on the Gore charges in Oklahoma regarding the enormous fees paid to attorneys by the Indians, and also submitted a plan of doing away altogether with the services of attorneys in the future.

The president had hoped to use some of the information thus available in his speech at St. Paul on September 5, but has decided now to hold the matter up for discussion in his annual message to congress. Mr. Valentine does not consider it necessary for the prosecution of their land claims, and has devised a plan by which he thinks the Indians' claims can be handled without the intervention of lawyers. Congressional action is required to carry the plan into effect.

FAMOUS VIOLINS.

Range in Value From $8,000 to $22,000 Apiece.

Stradivarius fashioned his best instruments between the years 1700 and 1720, while the choicest were made between 1709 and 1715. Vioti's violin is from 1704 and is valued at $16,000.

The violin owned by the virtuoso H. W. Ernst, but now the property of Wilma Neruda Halle, cost Charles Halle $10,000. Frans Ries had one from 1710 which cost $16,700.

One in the possession of Sarasate is dated 1713 and is owned by the Spanish crown, which has loaned it to Sarasate for life. This is the one he usually plays upon. The other he owns himself and is from the year 1724 and is a gift of Queen Isabella, of Spain. The value is not less than $22,000.

Joseph Joachim has three. The most famous is the one called "Pestergelge," which the master uses most frequently. It is from 1714 and cost $20,000. Another one from the same year was given to Joachim by friends in England, who paid $15,000. The third is played by Carl Halir. It is from the seventeenth century and has a small but brilliant tone. Joachim has loaned it to Halir for an indefinite time.

E. Kneisel's violin was formerly owned by Prof. Grun, of Vienna, and is also from 1714. The famous Rudolph Kreutzer's now belonging to J. Kinkler in Vienna is from 1714 and is worth upward of $14,000. The Strad owned by the French virtuoso Alard is from 1715 and is offered for sale by his family in Glasgow. The violin owned by Vieuxtemps was sold from Hamma's in Stuttgart for $10,000. John Lauterbach's from 1719 was sold to Vuillaume, the famous violin maker of Paris, for $9,000. Those owned by Hugo Heermann, of Frankfurt on the Main, and August Wilhelm are both dated 1712 and are worth from $8,000 to $10,000.

The last instrument known to have been made by the great master is the famous one known as "Schwanengesang," dated 1737. It belonged to Saint Sennoch, and was sold to the Hotel Drouot for $15,000. This instrument has an autograph by Stradivarius on which appears "danni 93;" that is, the instrument was made when the master was 93 years old.—Lyceumite and Talent.

Sixty Days in Jail.

The jury in the case of Walter Williams, colored, charged with disorderly conduct last Friday night by peeping into the windows at the homes of Mrs. T. H. Auston and Mrs. Mary Gregory near Tenth and Jefferson streets returned a verdict yesterday afternoon in police court, sentencing Williams to 60 days in the county jail and fining him $100. The case occupied all of yesterday morning and most of the afternoon.

Daily Thought.

After sixty years of public life I hold more strongly than ever to the conviction, deepened and strengthened by long experience, of the reality, the nearness and the personality of God.—Gladstone.Chicago probably woke up to the fact this morning that there is a crowd in town today.It must be conceded that Esperanto contains some elegant baseball expressions.It can't be possible that Ballinger set the woods on fire for conservation upon his return to Washington.The hon. speaker of the house will not be compelled to undergo an exhausting campaign tour this fall.The slogan of the MacGregors would arouse The Purchase, we're a-thunkin'.Theodore Roosevelt's speech at Utica, N. Y., must have been a disappointment to those who said he would denounce somebody.We haven't seen any published calls from a "number of citizens"
for anybody to run in the Democratic city primary, entries for which close at midnight; but we opine the "calls" will be made over the telephone this evening in plenty of time.We hazard the prediction that if Taft and Roosevelt get into the New York political situation, William Loeb will be the Republican candidate for governor. If they stay out the Republicans will be beaten.If this city has no ordinance, prohibiting the enclosing of a lot, bordering on a street, with barbed wire, it is about time we take this step upward from barbarism.What short memories some people have. They have forgotten that President Taft expressed his dissatisfaction with some of the schedules of the Payne tariff law and refused to sign it until a commission was provided to investigate the cost of production here and abroad. He is taking no back step when he says in the campaign handbook that further revision of the tariff is desirable. He has said that twenty times to our knowledge since the last tariff was enacted, and intends to urge the revision as soon as his commission has prepared all the data.

IN TENNESSEE.

We do not doubt the accuracy of the statement that the powers behind Ham Patterson in Tennessee are more interested in holding the legislature, than in the selection of governor. Under our system of divided authority, any evil power that gains control of one department of government can hamper any other department in the discharge of its duty.
The good people of Tennessee, who have shown themselves to be superior to party, should now look to the character of their representatives in both houses of the general assembly.
Republicans in Democratic counties and districts should support independent Democrats, and in eastern Tennessee Democrats should support good Republicans; for the evil influences they are fighting are non-

SOBER MEN FOR B. L. E.

It is safe to say that no other union, club or organization of any sort applies quite such heroic treatment to undesirable citizens as the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. One thing that the brotherhood most strenuously insists upon is that its members should not drink.
Thirty-five members were expelled for getting drunk in 1909, and their shame was publicly proclaimed in the journal. The treatment does not stop here, by any means. The brotherhood will not risk the lives of its members and the general public by permitting a drinking man to run an engine. When a man has been duly convicted of drinking, and punished
according to the laws of the order,
the facts are laid before the proper authorities on the road that employs him, and his discharge is demanded.
In one notable instance the engineer of a fast train got drunk during his lay-over and disgraced himself. He was tried, convicted and expelled, the management was informed, and the offender's discharge requested in regular form. But as the engineer had been a good man, the railroad company demurred, saying that he had not been drunk while on duty.

"But," said the brotherhood, "there is no telling when a man who gets drunk off duty may take a notion to get drunk on duty; and we do not intend to take any chances on having a drunken man tearing through the country at sixty miles an hour, endangering the lives of others. It is unfair both to the employees in your service and to your patron."

The culprit was discharged. He can never be employed on a railroad again.—Charles Frederick Carter's

gineers" in Century.

partisan, and are as likely to pick out bad men in the Republican counties of East Tennessee, as to use the authority of the Democratic machine in Middle and West Tennessee.
The Volunteer state has a chance to outstrip Georgia among the southern states in the adoption of modern political reforms.

JOE SIBLEY'S ILLNESS.

Joe Sibley, Pennsylvania congressman, long known as the Standard Oil representative in the lower house, attempted to follow the illustrious example of those two statesmen of the same character, Nelson A.
Aldrich and Senator Hale, of Maine;
but slipped up. He said he would retire from congress after his re-nomination, on account of ill health.
It seems he had heart failure. His arrest on the charge of election frauds immediately afterward showed why his heart failed him. It is also proved that the voters of Pennsylvania are no worse than the voters of any other section. They simply live in a corporation ridden state, that is all. Some day they will do like the voters of Tennessee are doing this year.

DIVORCE.

Data collected by a London statistician show that one-fourth of the divorces take place during the first year of married life, and 38 per cent
take place within four years of marriage. After that the percentage declines rapidly. One reason is that "marriages of convenience," and all nuptial contracts not entered into in good faith reach the consummation of the purpose for which they were made in a short time; drunkenness and vicious habits, existing at the time of the union, which make wedded life unbearable for one party or the other, work their ruin within four years, or else the aggrieved party becomes reconciled to the situation; and, finally, the first four years are the test years, and herein abides an important condition precedent to happy married life.

The high contracting parties are entering upon a new life. They have something besides themselves to think of. Selfishness is the rock on which many a matrimonial venture has been shipwrecked. It is always advisable for newly married people to go away by themselves, where they will be dependent on each other for comfort and companionship, where
old home associations and environments will not be constantly beckoning them back to old selfish ways
when the little trials of the new way cause the heart to ache.

As long as each party to a marriage contract studies the other's pleasure, the consequence can be nothing but happy wedded life, and gradually their ways will merge until each becomes the complement of the other, neither complete without the helpmeet.

Parents have much to do with the
wedded happiness of their children.
Selfish, tyrannous, dissipated men,
and selfish, vain, indolent, and sometimes dissipated women, are the products of what their parents permit them to grow into, and it requires only one faulty person to make a bad match. In America, where companionship is the keynote of the marriage bells, no reasonable man asks that a woman "obey" him;
but "comfort and cherish" are obligations that rest upon woman. She may aspire to a sphere outside the home, but she must first fulfill her obligations in the home, just as the man must first fulfill his obligation
to "support and cherish" his wife,
before he undertakes to reform the universe.

The divorce evil, like every other human evil, cannot be cured by congresses, uniform laws or social work.
The evil is confined to the particular individuals involved and the reform
must be worked in the individuals.
If parents do their duty, in training their children for matrimony, and not instilling in their minds the silly idea that money, luxury and vain
show are the essentials of a successful "match," the divorce evil will be remedied. Reform is one of those charities that begin at home.

STATE PRESS.

Still Doing Penance.
What we want Colonel Watterson
to see it took the editor of the Gazette some twenty-five or thirty years to see, namely, that there is in this good day a fine opening for a partnership between morality and decency and sobriety on the one hand and politics on the other. The editor of the Gazette was in the Music hall convention for about a week once upon a time and he has not yet quit doing penance for it.

He has set his heart on cleaner things in politics and is going to bring it about in the good county of Hickman if it gets no further. It is a waste of time to sneer at him and poke fun at him, for he is callous to that sort of an attack. He has been basted and turned and browned to a finish half a hundred times by scrub editors who had never learned as Colonel Watterson has, that De-Quincy was right when he affirmed that there was a fine art even in murder and points of excellence in a boil or a bunion.—Clinton Gazette.

Never Saw a railroad.

Mrs. Polly Boone, of McFarland, Monroe county, who is 103 years old, went to Tompkinsville last week for the first time in many years. She was born and raised at McFarland and has never been over 40 miles from home. She says she never saw a railroad train in her life, but has heard a great deal of talk about them.—Horse Cave Gazette.

Tom McGregor Mentioned.

As a result of a caucus of Republican leaders, held in Louisville several days ago, a new candidate for governor on the Republican ticket has developed, and it is said that the men who really control in the Republican party, as far as leaders can control, agreed that he was the best man. The new candidate is Thomas B. McGregor, of Marshall county, now assistant attorney general and one of the youngest men in an important position in the capital. He comes from a Democratic district, and a Democratic county, but as a Republican. Several of the leaders in the Republican party met in Louisville one day last week, largely by accident, and discussed the political situation, going over the reasons and objections to the men who have been mentioned for the nomination for governor.—Courier-Journal.

Is some hoodoo directing its energies to the Central fire station?

Twenty-four days out of August
are almost history and only two calls have been answered by the department. In fact, ever since the central department moved into its new quarters on Kentucky avenue from North Fourth street there has been a slump in business and Chief James Wood fears the wagons and trucks
will be "shop worn" unless the fire business gets better. The laddies are just praying for a run or two and wouldn't mind quenching a fire on the average of one a day; but day after day without any excitement is too much for them. The department has almost established a record for no business and should there be no more calls soon the "old heads" will forget how to fight a blaze. The two runs made so far this month
were to small fires that resulted in no large damages.

CAUGHT AND HELD MAD DOG

Risky Job Done by the Rev. Dr.
McGuffey and Mr. Meyers.

New York, Aug. 24.—With naked hands the Rev. Dr. Edward M. Mc-Guffey, rector of St. James' Episcopal church, and John E. Meyers, of 87 Broadway caught and overpowered a rabid dog after it had bitten three children and a score more of other dogs in the streets of Elmhurst, L. I., shortly before noon yesterday. The animal was an unusually large fox terrier.

The struggle took place in Broadway, Elmhurst, opposite the rectory of St. James' church, and was witnessed by a screaming throng of women and children, among them
the three children who had been bitten.

The Rev. Dr. McGuffey is a Scotchman, full of vim and courage.
He has been rector of St. James' for about 20 years. The dog, according to the police, was owned by Charles Langstaff, a plumber of 91 Broadway, who is away on a vacation.
Early in the morning Mr. McGuffey saw the fox terrier attacking every dog that passed. Shortly before noon it started off on a run down the street. As he was returning to the rectory from an errand Mr. Mc-Guffey heard screams and he then learned that the dog was running wild through the village and that the three children had been bitten.
He started on a run toward the place where the dog had been seen in the nick of time.

Mr. Meyers, who is an optician with a place of business in the city
and who has four small children, had caught the animal. Mr. Mc-Guffey also grabbed the dog, which fought viciously for its freedom. The men succeeded in planning the dog to the ground. Policeman Melvin Harvey of the Newtown precinct was among those drawn to the scene.
Catching sight of his uniform, the crowd shouted to the policeman to shoot the dog, but he was afraid to do this for fear of hitting the clergyman or Mr. Meyers. Mr. McGuffey told him to go ahead and shoot while they held the dog, but Policeman Harvey refused to take the risk. A rope was procured and a slip noose passed over the dog's head and then it was drawn taut against a lamp post and at the same instant both Mr. Meyers and Mr. McGuffey released their hold on the dog. Then the policeman used his weapon.

Mr. McGuffey then turned his attention to the three children who had been bitten, and took them to the office of Dr. Franklin H. Booth, where their wounds were cauterized.

GAYNOR ASSAULT UP SOON.

James J. Gallagher to Be Tried on Two Separate Charges of Assault.

New York, Aug. 24.—It is now generally believed that the case of James J. Gallagher, who shot Mayor Gaynor, will come before the grand jury in Hoboken early in September, and that he will be indicted on two separate charges of assault with intention to kill. Besides having to answer for this attack upon the mayor, Gallagher will have to answer for the wounding of William H. Edwards, commissioner of street cleaning.
Alexander Simpson, counsel for Gallagher, says he will require at least ten days' time to prepare for trial after an indictment is found.

It is not yet decided whether Mayor Gaynor will appear as a witness against Gallagher, but it is thought that he will not. Gallagher said today he was glad that the mayor was recovering rapidly.

Mayor Gaynor passed a good night
and his physicians said that he seemed stronger than ever. The mayor jokingly remarked that now that he had stolen a march on his doctors and walked a few steps he hoped to indulge in his favorite exercise every day.

GREAT EVENT NEAR

Kentucky State Fair Preparations Go Merrily On.

THOUSANDS IN PREMIUMS

Ample Accommodations Offered Both Exhibitors and Visitors During Week of Sept. 12th to 17th.

Liberal Excursion Rates Will Prevail
Throughout Territory Surrounding Louisville.

With an investment of approximately $300,000 in buildings and grounds, and a record of seven successful annual exhibitions before it, the Kentucky State Fair of 1910 will begin in Louisville on September 12, and continue throughout the week. The bright promise is given that the turnouts will elicit this year on one of the greatest State Fairs in America. Hard and unceasing work on the part of the Board of Managers, the Fair officials,
and employees, for many weeks past,
is rapidly bringing to completion the plans and arrangements for the exhibition.

While no new buildings have been erected since last year's Fair, there will be ample accommodations for exhibitors and visitors. Nature has worked wonders in the beautiful 150-acre plot occupied as a fair site, and the Kentucky show is rapidly gaining distinction as the most beautiful State Fair in America. Under the landscape gardener's care, the grounds have been adorned with shrubs, new walks and avenues have been laid out, and the trees planted when the site was first selected now have grown to shade-proportioned proportions. The system of illumination has been extended so that every nook and corner of the grounds
will be brilliantly lighted each night of the show week. Those who have watched the progress of work on this year's exhibition venture the opinion that the attendance, which last year reached high water mark, will this year be increased by thousands.

Cash prizes aggregating about $20-000 have been hung up in premiums for the 1910 fair. In many instances the prizes have been increased over former years, and many additional classifications have been made. More attractive than ever will be the "apocalypses," which this year will aggregate between $5,000 and $10,000.

Aside from the thousands of dollars received in cash by exhibitors, there comes, however, a yet greater prize—
the distinction of an award from the Kentucky State Fair. The sentimental and exploiting value of such an award has now grown until it is one of the most coveted prizes sought for by professional exhibitors in the country's largest agricultural exhibitions. It is not possible to put a correct valuation
on the prestige and distinction that accompany a prize from the state fair of a commonwealth recognized as the head of the horse world, as one of the foremost live stock states and as an agricultural community with few superiors in the union.

As heretofore, liberal excursion rates from a wide territory surrounding Louisville will prevail on railroad and steamboat lines throughout the fair period. Every local arrangement has been made for the quick and safe handling of the crowds, and ample accommodations at reasonable rates are assured to all visitors to Louisville
during State Fair week.

Wife Prostrated Over His Arrest.
Memphis, Aug. 24.—E. H. Russell, a bookkeeper for the American Lumber company and a member of a prominent family, was formally charged with larceny and is held at central police station pending an investigation into his alleged operations. While the warrant, issued at the instance of the lumber concern, charges that something less than $200 was stolen, it was intimated that this amount might be increased.
Raised checks were the means alleged to have been adopted and two separate cases are cited in the warrant.

Russell's wife has just emerged
from a hospital after an operation for appendicitis, and her husband's arrest has prostrated her.

GALLERY OF PESTS.

Some of the People You Would Rather Not See.

Speaking of pests, there's the visitor who calls on at the office, stands around your desk, making conversation on unimportant topics, while you wait, with your hand on the telephone, for him to go, and asks: "Are you busy?"

The proper answer is:
"Oh, no! I am not busy. They just have me here because I am ornamental and have such an engaging personality. I draw a salary for entertaining acquaintances at the office."

Also the friendly soul who approaches you when you are reading and engages you in conversation.
"Maybe I am interrupting you?" he suggests, noticing that you are using one finger for a book mark while you keep up an indifferent pretense of interest. And if you are as polite
as you should be you respond:

"Certainly not. I am just holding the place for a friend who has been called out of town for a few days."

One might also note the long-necked person who sits behind you on the car, craning his neck to see your paper. When he finally obstructs your view of the news you look a little peevish and he says:

"Do you read the Bazaar?"

"Oh, no," you answer with much gentleness. "I use it to screen my eyes from the vulgar gaze of the strap-hangers."

You may also recall the "I-used-
to-know-you-when" friend.

Taking your delicate hand in his wrestler's grip, he tried to wrench your arm off at the root, meanwhile murmuring fervently: "Why, are you here now?"

It hurts; but be polite. Say:
"Oh, no. This is my uncle here
now. I am at present in Singapore."

But sweeter far than each, than most, than all of these is the past mid-night derelict. He storms upon the porch and rings you out of bed

DIVORCE WOMAN

Although Husband Marries Again Legal Opinion.

San Francisco, Aug. 24.—A divorced woman is the widow of her former husband, although he may have married subsequent to the divorce, was the decision handed down yesterday by Judge Graham. This is the first time such a decision has been made in this state, and it affects many estates held in trust.

The decision was a result of a suit for the restoration of records in an estate involving $500,000 by Charles E. Jones on behalf of Mrs. Eugenia Jones.

SAURIAN GIVES CHICAGO PEOPLE A BAD FRIGHT.

Appleton, Wis., Aug. 24.—An alligator about six feet long chased Mrs. H. Peterson, 353 West Chicago avenue, and her niece, Miss Selma Schauder, daughter of William A. Schauder, city treasurer of Clintonville, while they were in a rowboat on Grass lake, according to the story told today by the two women and Mr. Peterson. Residents of the vicinity and visitors at Summer resorts on the Clover Leaf lakes, of which Grass lake is a part, are excited over the occurrence and are hunting for the alligator with rifles.

"Selma and I were rowing across the little lake toward Gibson's island," said Mrs. Peterson. "We were going to fish with my husband and brother-in-law. Suddenly Selma screamed and I looked around and saw the alligator swimming toward us, its mouth open. I screamed and my husband and brother-in-law started toward us in their boat, which was about twenty feet away. The alligator dived and disappeared in the weeds."

The alligator is supposed to be one which Richard Jackson, of Clintonville gave to A. C. McComb, of Oshkosh, twelve years ago, and which Mr. McComb threw into the lake when it was about twenty inches long.

On the same vessel was Mrs. M. Stuhlbach, wife of a Passaic, N. J., jeweler. Washington, Aug. 24.—Through-out almost the entire cotton and corn growing sections of the country weather conditions during the past week were generally favorable, according to the weekly weather bulletin of the department of agriculture, issued today.

BRITISH EXPERIMENT.

Build Battleship Equipped With Internal Combustion Gas Engine.

Portsmouth, England, Aug. 24.—A local newspaper asserts that it has excellent authority for the statement that the British admiralty has decided to build an experiment, motor-driven battleship, propelled by an internal combustion gas engine.

A battleship equipped with such a motor would have no boilers, stokers nor smokestacks and it is claimed that such a vessel, if successful, would, by the economies effected in weight, space and cost of working and by the additional speed, render all vessels of the present dreadnought type obsolete.

IS SAD ECONOMIC PERPLEXITY.

That of What Parents May Do for Futures of Unmarried Daughters.

The problem of what to do with unmarried daughters is becoming more and more acute all over the world. The rich are not bothered with the sordid question of how to get money to buy furniture and pay rent, and can marry or not as they please, and marriage is the rule among the very rich. The very poor marry regardless of whether they can pay rent or not, or their prospects, but in the middle classes the girl is being educated away from marriage and the young man is afraid even to consider it.

Hundreds of thousands of unmarried daughters in the families of the middle classes in the United States are eating their hearts out, taking no real interest in domestic affairs, with no genuine occupation to absorb their energies, and secretly rebelling against the ban which society puts upon them, which prevents them following their natural life as a wife and mother. These discontented young women, if they do not choose to become self-supporting, are a great expense to their parents, and rarely little pleasure to themselves or to anybody else.

Marriages between young people in this middle class of life are getting fewer and fewer each year. The runaway, rash and hastily-contracted marriage, where the prospects of the suitor are uncertain, are frowned down upon generally. Nowadays parents expect their children to begin where they leave off, and the girl who accepts a poor man is regarded by herself and her friends as throwing herself away. Both the young men and the women believe that it is better not to marry at all than to marry on hopes. The young professional man rarely thinks of matrimony before 30, and after that it is very easy to think less and less of it each year.

Young women who lead honest, self-supporting careers as stenographers, teachers, secretaries, telephone girls, bookkeepers, etc., especially if they have got parents and a good home, are reluctant to take the chances with a young man whose earning power is very little more than their own, the result being the diminution in marriage, shown in the statistics.—Boston Traveler.

What It Achieved

By LOUISE B. CUMMINGS

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

Ed Archer and Molly Doyle were as children one of those couples we like to read about, but the stories of whose loves are rarely finished by marriage.

There was something enduring about the affair between Ed and Molly. At any rate, it lasted till Ed went away to college, and that is about as long as child loves usually last. In this case there was nothing on either side to indicate that during Ed's college course love was smoldering in his breast or that of his child love. There was no correspondence between them, and if either ever thought of the other no one besides themselves knew it. They missed each other when Ed returned for the only vacation he spent at home, and when he was graduated as a civil engineer a position was ready for him, of which he at once availed himself. Therefore they did not meet from the time he began his studies till two years after he had been backing against the world.

When they did meet Ed was paying attention to a young widow of means. His mother was not well, and he left his work and his charmer to pay the mother a visit. While at home he called on Molly Doyle.

Now, it happened that Molly and Ed's widow had a mutual friend. So when Ed appeared Molly knew all about his intentions, or at least what appeared to be his intentions.

She came down to meet him with a letter in her hand. After greeting him she threw the missive on a table. It was addressed and stamped ready for the mail. Molly wrote a large hand, and it didn't require a microscope to read the name of the person for whom the letter was intended. Indeed, one could decipher it from across an ordinary sized room.

Molly was not especially cordial. She did not let it appear that she expected any return of that sweet interchange of sentiment which marks a child love. Ed made approaches toward speaking of it, but met with no encouragement. The conversation turned upon Molly's friend, who was also the widow's friend, and this led to some mention of the latter, but Molly did not speak of her as a matter of interest to her or her visitor. If she had any feeling about the widow she didn't show it.

Ed's call lasted a couple of hours. When he arose to depart he asked: "Is the letter on the table for the mail?"

"It is."

"Let me post it for you. I pass the office on my way home."

"Thank you very much."

She handed him the letter. He put it in his pocket and took leave.

The next evening he called, bringing with him some flowers. Molly softened a little at the gift. When he spoke of how many flowers he had given her when they were children she said that now he spoke of it she remembered them very well.

"By the bye," said Ed, "on leaving you last evening I was so engrossed with the pleasure of meeting you again that I forgot to post the letter you committed to my care. I have brought it back to you, thinking that after the delay you might wish to reconsider sending it."

There was an odd look in Molly's eye and a faint tinge of color in her cheek. Instead of looking disturbed over Ed's forgetfulness, she looked rather pleased.

"Tonight as you pass the office will do as well," she said and spoke of other matters.

The next evening Ed called again. This was three evenings in succession. He brought her a more substantial gift than flowers—a glove box, handsomely inlaid. She received it graciously.

"It is for atonement," he said.

"Atonement for what?"

"A bad memory. Again I have forgotten to drop your letter in the mail."

She gave him a forgiving smile—what else could she do after the atonement gift?—and said:

"Oh, it doesn't matter. Put it in as you go by tonight."

"You are very kind not to scold me. I shall keep my mind on it from the time I leave you."

"On the mailing or the letter?"

"The letter."

This evidently meant something more than the words, for Ed spoke them with his eyes fixed on her intently, and she dropped hers to the floor.

During the next call Mr. Archer made upon Miss Doyle he made no mention of the letter—at least until he arose to go. He brought her a gift, but kept it in his pocket till his visit was finished. He had a great deal to say about their childhood days—more, indeed, than he had to say about the eight or nine years that had passed since, during which he had made no effort to communicate with her or to see her. Indeed, on this latter subject he maintained a discreet silence.

It was near midnight when, having told her that he had loved her ever since he was a boy and could never love any one else, he took out his gift—a ring—and slipped it on her finger. She made no objection, since she had consented to a betrothal. Before leaving he threw the letter he had again failed to post on the table.

"Did it contain a 'Yes' or a 'No'?" he asked.

She opened it and displayed a sheet of blank paper.

PREVENTION OF FLOODS.

Overflows in Missouri Have Cost the Farmers $44,000,000 in 7 Years.

One of the most prolific sources of loss and damage to the farmers of Missouri has been the annual floods of its large rivers, which overflow their banks every spring and ravage the most fertile lands in the state. According to the figures compiled by the state labor bureau, these losses from floods have reached the enormous sum of $44,000,000 in the last seven years alone. According to the estimates of the United States engineers, less than one-seventh of this sum would be sufficient not only to riprap the banks and build levees high enough to keep the Missouri river within its banks during the entire year, but to establish a six-foot channel from Kansas City to its mouth. However, the vital interest of the farmers lies in the safeguarding of their lands from overflow. It is probable that the money included in the engineers' estimates for channel construction would be amply sufficient to cover the Osage, Gasconade and other rivers in the state.

At any rate, the fact has been clearly demonstrated that the annual losses by floods are greater than the amount required to secure permanently the lands from the overflow. This being the case, it becomes a simple question of common sense methods to protect the river bottoms from overflow, and thus save over $6,000,000 a year to their owners. It is reported that the farmers in the river counties are planning a series of meetings to consider ways and means to accomplish this result. In such an event it will be only necessary to follow the methods which have proved effective along the reaches of the lower Mississippi river, where thoroughly flood-proof levees have been built by the cotton and sugar planters by their own unaided efforts. These planters formed levee districts and taxed themselves in proportion to the production of each owner's plantation. Some such method would undoubtedly solve the difficulties confronting the Missouri farmers.—Kansas City Journal.

TWO BAD COINS

PLACED IN HANDS OF CHIEF OF POLICE SINGERY.

believe They Are Remnant of Lot Confiscated a Year Ago by Officers.

Chief of Police Henry Singery is working on a case of the "queer" once two counterfeit coins were turned over to him yesterday. Alex. Lay found yesterday that someone had passed a bogus dollar on him and he turned it over to Chief Singery. The dollar is a good imitation and bears the date of 1880. Patrolman Andy Stewart came into possession of a half dollar, marked 1907, yesterday and turned it over to the chief. It is the opinion that these two coins are remnants of a lot confiscated last year by the department when shavers invaded Paducah.

CINCINNATI GETS

$30,000,000 DEPOT

VICE-MAYOR JOHN GALVIN SIGNS THE ORDINANCE.

Ordinance Is Criticized Because No Clause Is Included Giving City the Right to Purchase.

ALL ROADS TO USE STATION.

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 24.—The ordinance for the $30,000,000 union depot to be built in Cincinnati by the Union Depot and Terminal company of Ohio, was signed here by Vice-Mayor John Galvin and is now a city law.

The ordinance will give to this company the right to construct a station building, train sheds and railway yards over several squares of Cincinnati property. All the railroads running into Cincinnati and the traction companies entering this city will use the station and the building to be constructed by the company will provide space for the offices of all these companies and several which are yet to be brought to Cincinnati. Among the roads to use the depot are the Baltimore & Ohio and the Louisville & Nashville.

The ordinance, which was signed by the vice-mayor in the absence of Mayor Louis Schwab, was pronounced by Mayor Schwab to be "the best we can get under the circumstances," and it is broadly hinted in Cincinnati that the mayor went away to Michigan for his vacation in order to escape signing the ordinance.

President Archibald S. White and General Manager John E. Bleckman, of New York, who have charge of the work of building the terminal and station, have been trying to get the matter through the council for several months.

Former Ordinance Lost.

Their other ordinance, which passed in council and which was vetoed by Mayor Schwab early in July, was termed by the mayor to be far from satisfactory in several particulars.

However, Vice-Mayor Galvin exhibits a letter which he received from Mayor Schwab telling him it will be all right to sign the ordinance if he sees fit, and stating that it is a vast improvement over the previous one.

There is one phase of the matter which has caused a lot of dissatisfaction in Cincinnati, namely, the fact that no clause was inserted giving the city of Cincinnati a right to purchase the station within the next twenty years. Vice-Mayor Galvin says that he believes Cincinnati should not seek to own such properties as this terminal. As for the proposed clause giving the right of the city to insist at any time upon the substitution of electric wires as the means whereby all trains and cars are brought into the city, he says that this is a matter within the rights of the state or city, and that if either state or city wishes to compel this it can do so through its powers. General Manager Bleckman says work will be started at once to erect the station.

FIRE STATION

ACCEPTED BY JOINT COUNCIL COMMITTEE.

Meets at City Hall and Considers Work on Broadway Building.

No. 5 fire station, at Broadway and Fountain avenue, is practically completed, with the exception of a few minor connections to be made by Contractor Jack Cole. Last night the joint finance and public improvement committee met at the city hall and accepted the building, which was built at a cost of $5,937. Mr. Cole will have everything complete by Friday. An appropriation of $8,500 was made for the new building and its equipment and last night the building committee was instructed to look after the furnishings to be purchased at once. A bid of Robert McMahon to build a coal house at the rear of the station for $165 was accepted provided he reduces the bid to writing.

The committee also accepted a bid of Contractor J. W. Lockwood for building a toilet room at the city scales for $133.50. Those present last night were: Aldermen Oehl-schlaeger, Hank and Farley, and Councilmen Hannin, Kreutzer and Wilson.

Mrs. Catherine Gafney, Jackson, Tenn., Aug. 24.—Mrs. Catherine Gafney died suddenly at her home in this city. Mrs. Gafney while not very well, was up and seemingly in good spirits, and her daughter, having occasion to consult her about some household matter, went to her room, but did not find her, and after making search, found her mother dead in the bathroom. Mrs. Gafney was about 60 years old and is survived by three sons and one daughter. She was highly esteemed.

PLANTERS ELECT

OFFICERS OF ASSOCIATION CHOSEN SEPT. 3.

No Estimate Made of Amount of Tobacco Pledged This Year by Farmers.

Springfield, Tenn., Aug. 24.—Though the books of the Dark Tobacco association closed a week ago the officials have not been able to return an estimate of the amount of tobacco that has been pledged throughout the district. Interest in association circles has been keen for the last few days on this account, as the report of tobacco pledged has a good deal to do with the success of the organization.

Dissatisfaction in the ranks of the association has caused many farmers to withhold their crops. This was observed on many of the Kentucky counties, particularly in Jackson's purchase. In Robertson county, however, the principal objection was an overlapping of contracts. A new contract was circulated this year providing that the pool would not be declared unless 51 per cent of the tobacco in the county was pledged. Many who signed last year's contract declined to sign the new paper.

The county committee, however, has taken cognizance of both contracts and the result is that about 80 per cent of the tobacco in Robertson county has been pledged to the association. The association officials regard this with gratification because

Robertson is the parent county of the organization and the success of the pool here has always, in a large measure, determined the success elsewhere in the district.

Though the sales last year fell lower than at any time since the organization began business, there seems to be very little credit to be given rumors that the association is not in a sound condition.

Elections will be held throughout the Black Patch September 3 to elect new district committeemen. Though there have been many reforms suggested no indications point to any issues, in fact very little is said about the election, even in close association circles. The reason the election of district committeemen is of such importance in association affairs is that they elect the county chairman. These chairmen constitute the board of directors which create all the organization officials and determines the policies of the association.

CROWN PRINCE WILL NOT VISIT THE U. S.

Berlin, Aug. 24.—Crown Prince Frederick William will not visit the United States after his trip to India and the far east on which he is to start in November. When first announcement was made of his far eastern journey, it was surmised that he would return by way of the Pacific ocean, rounding out his trip on a tour around the world, but Count von Bismarck Bohlen, lord chamberlain to the household of the crown prince, replying today to an inquiry, stated definitely that he would not return by way of the United States.

VIRGINIA OF THE AIR

By HERBERT QUICK

Then some one discovered that on the day the Carson-Craighead company had been formed the Universal Nitrate and Air Products company was born, with directors and stockholders identical with those of the Aeronaut company, and that they had spent a great campaign fund in getting leases and grants for the extraction from the atmosphere of nitrates and the like in lines like those of Scotch plaid all over the continent. The air over almost every highway had been granted away by the owners of the fee—the very streets of New York being covered so far as to cut the city into nearly a hundred irregular blocks. The other great cities were similarly gridironed. The space over the smaller rivers and streams was mostly sold to the Air Products company. The mystery in this so stimulated curiosity that it caused more excitement than the Virginia herself, for these seemingly worthless rights over farms, streams, roads and streets were like a huge spider's web spun as a net over the world—Europe and Asia as well as America. Some one with great resources was up to something big. Something was to be caught in the net—but what?

Craighead and Carson dined with Mr. Filley. Mr. Waddy's personal representative, a little man with a great, scantily thatched head and no body who ate lobster and green turtle soup and drank port and grew paler every day.

"When shall we know?" asked Theodore.

"Soon," replied Filley. "We'll cover the whole country with injunctions this afternoon and get a hearing here in a few days. In a very few weeks we shall win the greatest legal triumph of recent times—or snuffed out."

That night began the series of sensations that made so memorable the courts of every federal district and the state courts of West Virginia. Mr. Filley filed his injunction suits against the owner of every known airship and by the clause used in labor disputes bound all persons, whether named or not, who might with the defendants or independently design trespass against the plaintiff's rights.

The bill in New York recited that the plaintiff was the owner of all rights of navigation in the air in certain described belts or bands surrounding the city of New York, dividing it into portions, and gridironing the continent; that the defendants had in the past habitually trespassed on these by flying over them in airships; that the passage to or from the city of New York over the sea, the river or other route was impossible save by such trespass, and therefore injunction was asked prohibiting the defendants, their servants and all other persons from departing from or coming to the said city of New York through the air owned by the plaintiff or from navigating any aerial craft across, over or through the real property of the plaintiff where-soever situated.

Finley Shayne's name led the list of defendants, followed by that of the Aerostatic Power company and page after page of names of people owning aerial craft, and airships everywhere were hemmed in by the "real property" of the plaintiff, like whalers frozen in the ice. The "real property" was that wonderful spider's net of grants, and the plaintiff was the Universal Nitrate and Air Products company. Craighead's opium dream was explained. The relation between the twin companies was disclosed. Two perfectly well known legal principles were here united in an audacious attempt to monopolize the air, the rights attaching to ownership of land and that of injunction to prevent trespass or nuisance.

Public and press were struck with amazement. The unthinking laughed at the unheard of and preposterous claim to private control of the atmosphere. Lawyers began poring over cases dealing with rights in and over land, with growing doubt as to the outcome of the case of the "Universal Nitrate and Air Products company versus Shayne et al."

When the case came on to be heard the laugh had disappeared, the very army of lawyers appearing for the defendant rendering it a serious matter. Craighead sat in court with Filley, his hair rumpled, his crooked nose high in a suit of legal black, drawing more attention than did Carson, whose face, bleached of the gulf beach tan, had assumed the pallor of the scholar, while vast responsibilities had been imparting to him an atmosphere of distinction. He sat scanning the people of the defense—Shayne, Silberberg and other great financial figures.

A Romance Of Flying

situation constitutes a threat that this will be repeated. The defendants by claiming the right to pass these lines confess this for present purposes. We will therefore hear from plaintiff's counsel on the law."

Mr. Filley gathered up his papers; but, with a professional sounding "May it please the court" that dumfounded Filley and drew from the justice a request for the gentleman's name, Craighead rose.

"Craighead," said he in response to the court's query. "I will offer a few remarks on the law and then yield to my learned colleague, who will lay before the court the feeble attempts of the courts to crystallize it in precedents. The law is fully as plain as the nose on the face of the most Roman of your honors. As to its righteousness: it is as moral as landownership. That it has not heretofore been applied has been owing to the stupidity of the legal profession, to the assiduity of landowners and to the fact that the law is so plain, for that which is all around ever remains undetected, like the pressure of the atmosphere or the picture with trees and clouds representing faces or animals. And as when once the cat in the landscape is seen the landscape fades, and one can see nothing but the cat, so in this case when the law is once made plain your honors will be able to see nothing else. We are taking the liberty of unsealing the blind eyes of the courts."

Mr. Filley was outraged at the effrontery of this unlicensed actor in thus taking the scene, but to make a disturbance now would be worse than to let him go on, and Mr. Filley sat down frowning and hoping that Craighead's offense might escape discovery.

"Cujus ad solum, ejus est usque ad coelum," went on Craighead, "is the maxim on which we stand, the meaning of which has been decided in hundreds of cases and, strange to say, is still clear—'He who owns land owns the sky.' He has as much moral right to the sky as to the surface. The man with a deed to a square mile of the surface of this planet under this law owns a great pyramid, apexing at the earth's center and extending out into space in diverging lines infinitely, so that if he can show that these lines of boundary take in Mars and her canals he would have a perfect case against the Martians for rent of fields and tolls over waterways if he could get service and bring the defendants into court."

"Land! Land! The mystic word that rules the world! The woman who ejaculates 'Good land!' conjures by a thing more potent than all the gods of Olympus.

"The air above our land is a part of it. You know it. Why else have you recognized Reimer's appeal, 100 Pennsylvania state, as good law? What was that case? A bay window many feet above the sidewalk was declared a nuisance because it jutted out into the air that was a part of the street. And see also Bybee versus the state, 94 Indiana. You hang your cornice or string a wire in my air and I will hale you into court. Don't presume to fly a kite over my land except by my consent; you have no right. And remember that the city of Cleveland was mulcted in the sum of $50,000 for swinging a bridge a few times a day a hundred feet above an inch strip of land."

"How much more am I damnable by the airship, which may drop a monkey wrench, a spanner, a gob of ballast or a casual remark into my privacy? Aeronauts will fall into the rural side, drag ropes will rip up barbed wire, and Pyramus and Thisbe in their Arcadian wooing may be smothered under falling gas bags or torn asunder by dragging anchors inserted in their fluttering hearts! I shudder, your honors, at what may happen when the air is populous with flying jiggers, popping about, raining ballast and wine bottles and bacon rinds and stale bananas and hot coffee and soft boiled eggs and lobster a la Newburg on a lost and undone republic, and when I shudder persons of ordinary sensitiveness fly into fragments with the shivers, for I am no light and habitual shudderer."

"I have spoken in my weak way of what might make a landholder unwilling to have his air used as a highway. But he doesn't have to give a reason—he can show his deed and tell the whole world to go to—the captain's office and settle. Your honors, I adjure you to cling to your unbroken precedents and uphold property, on which society is based. To say that we do not own these strips of land, out only rights in the air, is foolishness of the dampest sort. The landowner may sell the surface and keep the minerals or sell the mineral rights down to China and keep the surface. Our grantors owned and sold these

PROPOSED COST OF RETAINING WALL TOO GREAT.

Board of Public Works Declines to Let Contract at Prices Named.

Bids for a retaining wall at Island creek and for the construction of concrete sidewalks in Mechanicsburg were turned down by the board of public works yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock because they were exorbitant and new bids will be advertised for and opened before the board Monday afternoon, Sept. 5.

The board recommended that Contractors A. J. Miller & Sons, of Lynchburg, Va., be given the contract to construct the sidewalks on North Twelfth street from Trimble street to Salem avenue. They were the only bidders and their bid was: sidewalks, 11 2-3 cents per square foot; granite curbing, 76 cents per lineal foot; concrete gutter, 23 cents per lineal foot; iron drain pipe, 26 cents per lineal foot.

Contractor Yancy was the only one to submit a bid for the retaining wall, as follows: Excavations, 40 cents per cubic yard; concrete work, $8 per cubic yard; re-enforcements, 2 1/2 cents per pound; vitrified pipe, 15 cents per foot; gas pipe fencing, 15 cents per foot.

Contractor E. B. Johnson's bid on the Mechanicsburg streets was: 12 1/2 cents per square foot for sidewalks; driveways, 15 1/2 cents per square foot; granite curbing, 84 cents per lineal foot; concrete gutter, 26 cents per lineal foot; pipe, 25 cents per foot.

Contractor George Katterohn sent in a bid for the Mechanicsburg work. North Twelfth street and also the south side of Trimble street from Sixteenth street to Fountain avenue, as follows: Sidewalks, 15 cents per square foot; driveway, 19 cents per square foot; concrete curbing 90 cents per lineal foot; concrete gutter 28 cents per lineal foot; pipe, 30 cents per foot.

rights to us. It is dangerous to say that we have honor-sold to col a phrase—the farmers by promising cheap nitrates by the Craighead method. It is my intention to take a few moments some day to perfect the Craighead method and begin to extract nitrogen, but that is another narrative. The point is that we've got those rights. We have what nobody else had before—the proof that defendant, pass over our lands, because they have. Nobody else ever had lands hemming in everybody. We have. This makes our proof simply pile, and we call upon you to protect us in the name of the law of landownership, on which every government in all the world is founded.

"They say we seek to enslave travelers. This absurdity applies as forcibly to surface rights or mines. If the traveler can't pay our scale let him go by public highways or by boat or rail—or stay at home. We anticipate that rights to air navigation will become more and more valuable. We expect to charge whatever the situation makes possible. This is as moral as increasing rent for lands. We shall grant licenses or not, as we please. We may demand title to all patents on airship inventions before allowing them to be used, thus applying the rules you and your predecessors have so wisely laid down. 'He who owns land owns the sky.' How beautiful the principle! What a stimulus to enterprise it offers—in cornering space! Our getting of these rights may be a horse on Mr. Shayne, but the rules of the game—and what a game it is, your honors!—give us the pot. The costs constitute the kitty."

Justice McFadden tapped on the desk, and Craighead paused.

"Your language, Mr. Craighead," said he, "is unusual, though your points seem well taken."

"You're on!" ejaculated Craighead. "You're on! In fact, to speak grammatically, 'You're on, your honor; you're honest!'"

A bailiff interrupted by handing a note to the astonished court.

"Mr. Craighead," said Justice McFadden, "it is suggested that you are not a licensed practitioner at this bar or at any other. This extraordinary address of yours leads the court to doubt. What is the fact? I thought I recognized you as a member of this bar. Have we not met?"

"Your honor," said Craighead, "studied language under me."

"Language!" roared the justice.

"When?"

"I was your teacher in English and drawing," replied Craighead. "In Schlosser's billiard parlors—English and drawing, with incidental instruction in the use of the globes; also dry nursing, the masse and the follow!"

"Remove him from the bar, Mr. Bailiff!" thundered the court. "Take him to jail!"

"Stung in the same old aching spot!" cried Craighead. "Still the great uncalled! But know ye, proud judges, I have been expelled from worse places than this! What harm have I done ye? Filley, get me out of this!"

their homes and everything in them. Fires along the Northern Pacific, in western Montana, are diminished. They are largely in timber that had been fire-swept in former years, but Idaho fires are burning in virgin forests.

Pen D'Oreille Valley, heavily timbered, is on fire in several places, and the loss of life is feared. It is difficult to get news from that section.

A dispatch received by the local officers of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad state that four of the soldiers of Company G, Twenty-fifth United States Infantry, negroes, sent to fight the fires, are missing. Dispatches also say that a number of families in the vicinity of Avery have been burned out and a large number of people are dead and missing.

Milwaukee employees at Avery say that it seems as if all of the Bitter Root mountains are burning and that the entire Couer D'Alene national forest will be destroyed.

Fifty Miles Square.

Missoula, Aug. 24.—Supervisor Penn forwarded a local forestry bureau report from Kootenai, Idaho, which prints a distressing picture of the conditions in that district. The supervisor asserts that the fires have now covered an area of more than 50 miles square; that high winds prevail and there appears to be little chance of bringing the flames under control. The town of Troy, he reports, is threatened and residents have requested that a company of troops be sent to that place.

A late report from Supervisor Koech, at St. Regis, indicates that many of the men reported to have perished in Buford Gulch are safe at St. Regis and assisting in driving back the fires that are threatening the town. Reports were circulated here that incendiaries had attempted to spread new fires at St. Regis. The charges were made that certain unidentified persons were detected unrolling burning brands among the buildings in the business district. No arrests have been reported.

Six Hundred Men Missing.

Helena, Aug. 24.—The first report to reach this city with a suggestion of the horrible fate believed to have overtaken the crew of 600 forest rangers, who left Thompson Falls four days ago to combat the forest fires in Cabinet Reserve was brought by Julius Barney, who arrived from Thompson, where he heard from Forester Supervisor Bushnell, first hand information of the conditions in the district.

"Six hundred men," said Barney, "had been gone four days during which nothing had been heard from them, and Forest Supervisor Bushnell, of Cabinet Reserve, who is at Thompson, fears all are dead. They could scarcely have obtained food and as none have returned, it is presumed they were cut off by the fire. 'When I left them at Thompson, a wall of fire, hundreds of feet high, was sweeping from the west. The people of Thompson, numbering 700, packed all their effects and were prepared to flee to the plains, 25 miles west.'"

Gov. Edwin L. Norris ordered out five companies of the Montana National Guard to assist in fighting the forest fires in various sections of the state.

Ten Dead; Eight in Hospital. Wallace, Idaho, Aug. 24.—Steve R. Marquette, of Independence, Ia., who was a member of Ranger Bell's party of 37 men, who were hemmed in by flames by Beauchamp's ranch, Big Fork Couer D'Alene river, 10 miles from Wallace, arrived here and reports ten of the party are dead and eight in the hospital camp, four being blind and four suffering with broken legs. Five of the injured men were assisting the doctors to nurse the unfortunates.

Among the dead are Joseph Beauchamp and Boderick Ames, well known ranchers, who distinguished themselves by bravery in the fight against the flames.

Supervisor Weigle said to a correspondent that he took the gloomiest view of the situation regarding the 204 rangers missing in St. Joe river county, 35 miles east of Wallace. They were under Ranger Kootkey, a graduate of the Yale forestry school and one of the most expert foresters in the service. The district in which they were working when last heard from is now a seething area of flames. The distance from Wallace is so short that it is thought Kootkey would have sent word to the chief if he was alive.

Government Offers Aid.

Washington, Aug. 24.—The war department telegraphed the commanding officers of the troops at Republic to render all assistance possible to the Indian officials in combating flames on Colville Indian reservation.

The Indian bureau has in turn sent a message to Superintendent Webster to hold a conference with the army officers to determine the necessary steps to be taken. The forest service officials are delaying a reply to Acting Governor Bowerman's message, offering aid of the state militia, to determine whether the war department will order the troops from other departments to aid in subduing the flames. All available troops in the department of the Dakotas are now engaged in fighting flames. When shown a telegram confirming Governor Brady's telegram to the president, telling of Idaho governor's action, he ordered out the state militia from encampment at American lake, the officials of the forest service commended the governor for acting.

Too Dead for the Colonel.

Every time Col. Cecil Lyon, Republican national committeeman from Texas, goes to Beverly, Mass., to see the president on political business during the summer, he is greatly oppressed by the dullness of the town. On his last trip he was driving down one of the side streets when he saw a cemetery.

"Those fellows over there in these graves," he said, "are not as dead as the live ones in Beverly."—The Popular Magazine.

MONEY BALANCE OF U. S. BANKS.

Enormous Deposits by American People Baze the World With Figures.

According to a preliminary report issued by the monetary commission the deposits in the banks of all classes in the United States amount to more than $14,000,000,000. To protect those deposits the banks have resources exceeding $21,000,000,000.

It is only by a few simple comparisons that one is enabled to grasp the meaning of these figures even approximately. For example, the bank deposits of the United States amount to more than double the whole world's known supply of gold. They are about equal to the whole volume of money in the world, counting gold, silver, tender silver and silver which is a limited legal tender, and "uncovered" paper currency. They are greater in value than the world's total output of gold and silver since the discovery of America, and they would pay more than a third of the fifty leading nations of the earth.

More than 25,000,000 persons in the United States—more than one in every four of the entire population—have bank deposits. About 35 per cent of all the deposits are in the form of savings, and the spread of thrift is illustrated by the fact that school savings banks are in operation in 114 cities of twenty-five states, their depositors numbering 186,828.

The world has never witnessed anything comparable to this extraordinary showing. As the year draws to a close the American people may properly rejoice in the realization that in energy, thrift and enterprise, and in the power which those elements produce, they present an example without parallel in the history of mankind.—New York Mail.

CUBA'S AFFAIRS IMPROVED.

Tennessean Says Most Revolution in America.

New York, Aug. 24.—George M. Bradt, a native of Chattanooga, Tenn., for the last ten years publisher of the Havana Post, arrived here from Havana today. "Conditions in Cuba are 500 per cent better than people in the states think," Mr. Bradt said. "Up here they are inclined to get excited over reports of revolutionary movements that we don't know even exist until a copy of an American newspaper falls into our hands."

FRONTIER DAYS CELEBRATION

BIG TIMES PREPARING IN CHEYENNE AND VICINITY.

Indian in Full Glory Will Be There—Bucking Bronchos and Roping Contests.

ROOSEVELT TO TAKE PART.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Aug. 24.—When Colonel Roosevelt steps from the train on his arrival at Cheyenne, Wyo., to attend the annual Frontier Days' celebration, which will be held August 22-27, he will find waiting him an escort of more than a 1,000 cowboys and cowgirls, who will greet him with the characteristic yell of the range which he is familiar. Many of these have ridden with him on the plains before he became famous as the wielder of the big stick. They have an idea that nothing will de-light the ex-president so much as their enthusiastic welcome, and they expect to entertain him and his friends in genuine western fashion.

He is to make one of his first important speeches at this time in Cheyenne since his retirement from the presidency, and as he will speak in the open air under the blue canopy of heaven, a record-breaking attendance is assured for this event. His friends and admirers are planning many surprises for him in the way of western sports.

"Frontier Days" is no doubt the most characteristic American exhibition given. It had its inception about 14 years ago when a few Cheyenne citizens conceived the idea of presenting a western show, but little did they conceive of the magnitude it would assume within a few years.

Several scores of Eastern newspaper men and magazine writers have expressed a desire to attend this year's celebration, which will be held August 22-27, inclusive.

The Indian in all his glory will be here. Chief Red Cloud and his band of Sioux, among whom are Mrs. Red Cloud, John Blunt Horn, Loud Voice Hawk, Eagle Elk, Charles Two Bonnet, Eagle Cat, Dull Knife, Sitting Elk, Make Enemy, White Whirlwind, Little Cloud, Pin Head, Running Jumper, Growler and other notable red men and squaws, with their children, will make their annual pilgrimage from the reservation to attend this celebration. They will bring with them their tipis, ponies, tom toms, war paint and other paraphernalia, besides souvenirs for the pale faces. They will take part in several of the exciting events incident to this occasion, and many of the old time spectacles will doubtless recall that these very Indians a few years since were active participants in the numerous raids which made ranch life at least exciting in the early days.

Bucking Broncho Stunts.

Some of the features for the exhibition this year will be the bucking bronchos and steer roping contests, for the championship of the world, the wild horse race, the calf-branding contest, ladies' relay race, sheep-shearing contest, polo pony race, aces by officers of the United States army in full uniform, fancy roping, military war dances, cow pony races, squaw races, potato races, stake races, hat races, buffalo races, stag holdups, and many other similar events characteristic of the early west, which is now rapidly passing.

Colonel Roosevelt himself is partly responsible for this "passing of the West," for it was he who compelled the cattle baron to tear down his fences which formerly enclosed vast estates of the public domain, thereby compelling him and the flockmaster to surrender the ranges to the farmer and the homesteader.

One of the exciting features—that will attract thousands this year—is the galloping parade of a thousand cowboys and cow girls in full Western uniform, with their chaps, spurs, lariats, sombreros, guns, etc.

The only team of trained buffalo in the world will be seen at Cheyenne at this time. Next to the Indian himself there is nothing so closely connected with the old order of things before the advent of civilization. By no means, however, have they been so domesticated that they will eat from one's hands, but the animal is not living that the reckless cowboy will not pit his life against, and consequently they will attempt to ride these buffalo without any support.

The show this year will be attended by the best riders, broncho busters and steer ropers in the world. Many of them have left the ranges for years, but they feel assured that the occasion demands their presence, and they want to be on hand to be thrilled by the many feats of daring and recklessness displayed by the participants in these wild and exciting events.

Fort D. A. Russell, established several years ago when Wyoming was a part of the Dakotas and Cheyenne was the starting point for the stage coaches to the Black Hills, is just a short distance from the frontier grounds. This is the largest exclusive military post in the United States. Here there is represented almost every branch of the service, and with its three thousand soldiers the military maneuvers will be at least interesting and exciting. They will also be lined up in the great parade, which will be a sight that in many years will be a matter of history only.

Notice to Taxpayers.

I will begin my assessment September 1 and every taxpayer in the city should not fail to call at my office and give in their property, which enables the assessor to get a true and correct list. The law provides that on failure to do so that a penalty shall be added to the assessed value of said property and the assessment as made this year on all real estate will stand without change for the next four years. Therefore it behooves all taxpayers to be on time in coming to my office and get a correct assessment of his or her property.

HERRMAN ON MARRIAGE.

Bachelor Magistrate Moved to Speech By Case Before Him.

New York, Aug. 24.—Magistrate Herrman, who is a bachelor, had a case of non-support before him in the Yorkville court that led him to say:

"The evil of the times is that too many boys and girls get married before they reach an age of good judgment as to what married life really is. A pretty face makes a boy think he must either die or get married. Usually he gets married. Then children come and so do worries, loss of employment temporarily, bickerings and fault finding, and the husband skips out and the relatives or the community is called on for the support of the abandoned ones. "It would be a good thing for the community if there was a law prohibiting marriage under 21 years."

ADRIATIC IN LATE.

Strike Delayed Her—Clerks in the Firerooms at Starting.

New York, Aug. 24.—The White Star liner Adriatic arrived at quarantine last night several hours late because of the strike of the firemen.

Leaving Southampton, the fire rooms were manned by clerks and other employees of the line. When she was one hour out 25 firemen were brought alongside by a small steamboat to relieve the emergency firemen. At Queenstown 17 more firemen were added.

Among the passengers on her are James A. Patten, Jules S. Bache, Miss Billie Burke, William Dulles and Charles Scribner.

UPCHURCH JAILED.

He and His Young Victim Brought to Mayfield.

Mayfield, Ky., Aug. 24.—It was a strange sight today, when Chief of Police McNutt got off the train, having in his custody Riley Upchurch, an aged man, almost blind, handcuffed, and a small girl, Margaret Riley, aged 11 years, following closely behind. Upchurch and the girl left here mysteriously two weeks ago he telling the girl's mother that they were going blackberry picking. Although a diligent search had been made they were not heard of until arrested at New Madrid, Mo. Upchurch was lodged in jail on the charge of abduction, and the trial set for Friday. Malinda Thompson, mother of the girl, embraced her daughter as she alighted from the train, and the scene was a pathetic one. The great crowd of people that had assembled at the depot, strange to say, made few remarks and no demonstration, and the law will be allowed to take its course. Upchurch claims to be 46 years old, but looks much older. The girl is very small for her age.
